Text-to-image models of Midjourney, Stable Diffusion, and DALL-E 2 are trained on billions of images scraped from the internet, including those of artists who have not consented to their use.
Artists are fighting back.
Illustration: Alex Williams